Last week I went to see Chhichore. We were five friends. We bunked the boring lecture of Mr. XYZ and reached a nearby theatre. We saw that the movie Chichore was about the start. We immediately decided to buy tickets and by chance we managed to get tickets though there was heavy rush. When we entered the hall, the movie had already started. It was quite dark inside. We could not find the way to our seats. The usher came to help us and soon we settled down in the comfortable platinum row. The movie really amazed us as we could relate with the college life that we saw in the movie. In the interval we ordered some snacks and cold drinks. The movie was interesting and we enjoyed every moment of this inspirational blockbuster. When the movie ended it is dark outside. We returned home but I felt very relaxed and refreshed after watching this awesome movie.
